Whittenburg Attorneys Subpoena News Publisher, Notes, Records

Attornies for defendants in a multi-million dollar federal lawsuit involving some members of the Amarillo Whittenburg family and the Amarillo Globe-News have subpoenaed Canyon News Publisher Troy Martin appear for a deposition this morning.

The subpoena issued Martin Tuesday at the Canyon News office by a federal official does not say why he is being asked to give a deposition on behalf of the defendants in a $10 million suit filed by one branch of the Whittenburg family against another branch.

Burk Whittenburg, Amarillo attorney for the defendants, likewise would not say why Martin was being asked to appear for the deposition.

"No comment," he said to questions.

The subpoena orders that Martin appear and bring with him "all handwritten, stenographic, typewritten, or printed writings, papers, copies, notes, memoranda of every kind sent, kept, maintained or received by Troy Martin...or by any of the employees, agents or representatives for them or either of them related to, connected with, arising out of, or reflecting, evidencing, or referring directly or indirectly to oral or written communication occurring after Jan. 1, 1972, with or about Helen Catherine Hamilton, David Hamilton, Charlene Cline Marsh, Tom Marsh, Stanley Marsh 3, William Whittenburg Cline, Richard Charles Cline Jr., Catharine Morris Brown, Joe Bob Brown, Georgia Morris Mann, and Eugene J. McCartt III, or any of them, or with any of the employees, agents or representatives of them or any of them."

Martin said the subpoena is not specific as to the kind of information asked by the Whittenburg attorney.

Mrs. Hamilton, Hamilton, the Marshes, Clines, Browns, Mrs. Mann and McCartt are plaintiffs in a $10 million federal district court lawsuit which alleges fraud in the 1972 sale of the Amarillo newspapers.

Defendants which the subpoena says the Whittenburg firm represents include Roy R. Whittenburg, The Spool Company, Spool Cattle Company, and the Plains Radio Broadcasting Co.

Other defendants in the lawsuit include Leon Swift, Eva Metcalf, Wanda Jeanne Whittenburg, individually and as a trustee of the Fagg Trusts; Donald G. Coltrin, Patricia Walker and Peter C. Bowes, individually and as trustees of the Spool Trusts; Southwestern Newspaper Corporation and Morris Communications Corporation.

The latter are firms

Hospital Move-in Is Set For Friday

Patients and equipment will move into Canyon's new Palo Duro Hospital Friday.

Ray Grimes, administrator, said he plans to begin moving patients to the new $1.6 million facility Friday afternoon. All patients in the hospital will be moved during the afternoon and with removal of the last patient from the old Neblett Memorial Hospital that 37-year-old structure will cease to be Canyon's hospital.

Supplies and records not needed in Neblett have already been relocated at the new hospital, which sits on a tract in East Canyon between Fourth Avenue and Spur 48.

A maximum of 30 patients will face the move Friday, probably by ambulance.

Grimes said operation of the new hospital will begin as patients are moved into the facility.

Doctors in Neblett Clinic have been moving their equipment, too, to the new hospital's clinic area and are expected to complete their move over the weekend. They will be accepting patients at Palo Duro Hospital on Monday and during the weekend will see patients either at the new or the old hospital.

More than 2500 persons viewed the new hospital during an open house held two weeks ago by hospital board members. Prior to the open house the board had signed a certificate of virtual completion for the structure. The building has been inspected by Architect Bill O'Connell of Austin.

Members of the South Randall County Hospital District board have not set room rates for the hospital.

The hospital, construction for which began in December 1973, contains 51 private beds, but only a portion of the rooms have been completely furnished and will be available for patients.

The hospital also includes laboratory facilities, x-ray facilities, operating suites and complete emergency room services.

With the moving of the hospital to the new structure comes the closing of Neblett Memorial Hospital, which began in 1937 as a six-room medical care facility to serve Canyon. It was founded by the late Dr. R. A. Neblett.

At its closing the old hospital contains 30 private and semi-private rooms.

The closing of Neblett Hospital was spurred by threats from federal accrediting agencies to remove accreditation from the hospital due to shortcomings in fire protection capabilities.

Planning for the new Palo Duro Hospital began in the late 1960s. The facility is solely supported by hospital revenues and tax money generated from those living in the hospital district.

New Federal Law Oversees MD's

A new federal law will go into effect Saturday to virtually coincide with the opening of Canyon's new Palo Duro Hospital and the law mandates procedures which must be followed before many local residents can be placed in the hospital.

Passed in December 1972 by Congress and signed into law by the President, the measure calls for a physicians' review board to eye the medical care required by patients before the patients can be admitted to the hospital.

Dr. J. Edwin Low, local physician, recently returned from a conference outlining the requirements of the law, which will be administered federally by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Initially, the law requires that patients who will enter the hospital with funding through Medicare, Medicaid or other federal funding programs must be certified for hospitalization before they can enter the hospital.

In Canyon, Dr. Low said, a board of physicians consisting of the doctors here will review cases presented by individual doctors to determine whether hospitalization is required and to determine if the correct diagnosis and treatment have been made and provided.

Although mandated now by law, Low said Canyon physicians have joined together informally for retrospective reviews for the past several years, any way.

"The idea, really, is to prevent the abuse or misuse of hospital facilities by persons — patients as well as physicians — who'd use the facilities when it was not absolutely necessary," Low said. "How much abuse was going on I don't know."

As the system goes into effect Saturday, Low said the law requires that a physician review board review a patient's case

Treasurer Sets Try To Abolish Office; Co. Paychecks Delayed

County Treasurer Bob McClendon, who's served almost a month of his four-year term, said Monday he'll travel to Austin during February to push legislation to abolish his office.

Some Randall County employees complained at mid-week the office is already vacant. They said they have not yet received their paychecks, which by tradition should have been paid on Monday.

McClendon's platform as a Democratic candidate for the county treasurer's office last spring and through the summer and fall was based on one plank — abolition of the office he sought.

He said he'll prepare legislation — probably a bill calling for a constitutional amendment — to abolish not only his office but also the county treasurers' offices throughout Texas counties.

Such action would apparently be required since abolition of the Randall treasurer's office would probably not be considered a local bill, impacting as it would on the status of other such offices in Texas' 254 counties.

McClendon, who downed a Republican candidate for the office in the November general elections, did not actively campaign for his office in the May primaries or the general election.

He said he has talked with Warren Harding, county treasurer of Dallas County concerning the abolition of the county treasurers' offices, but declined to reveal how much support he hopes to gain for his proposal when he takes it to the legislature next month.

The new county treasurer, who hired retiring Treasurer Mrs. Ruth Hill to help in his office during January, said a month in office has not changed his mind about the value of his job.

"Somebody needs to do the paperwork," he said, but suggested that responsibility be given the county auditor, who under current Texas law is appointed for four-year terms by district judges.

McClendon noted that Randall County pays about $20,000 per year for an outside auditing firm to audit the county's books.

Until the county office can be abolished, McClendon has said he will use his own personal data processing equipment to pay county bills. Under questioning Monday from county commissioners, he said no official county records or documents will be taken from the courthouse to prepare the checks.

Meanwhile, the new county treasurer had trouble this week getting out payroll checks for county employees. The checks were to be issued on Monday and had not been given county employees by late Tuesday.

City Officials Will Wait And See On Dallas, Amarillo Suits Impact

Canyon officials have adopted a wait-and-see stance before taking any action which might change the way city commissioners are elected here, in the wake of the filing of a federal lawsuit this week challenging commissioner elections in Amarillo.

Officials here are hesitant to speculate on the impact of the outcome of a similar lawsuit filed in Dallas.

Canyon city commissioners are elected at-large and in the same manner as city commissioners in Dallas and Amarillo.

A federal district judge two weeks ago declared Dallas' election system illegal because it denied representation to minority group members.

Six Amarilloans, including two blacks and two Chicanos, filed a similar lawsuit in federal district court this week in Amarillo seeking to have Amarillo's commission election system overturned. They claim likewise that the election of commissioners at-large denies representation to large blocs of minority voters. They say most Amarillo city commissioners live in the South part of Amarillo and therefore do not represent all areas of the community.

Canyon city commissioners, with the exception of Mayor Manly Bryan, live in the Hidden Valley addition of Canyon.

But, there are some differences, local officials say, between what amounts to a denial of representation in Amarillo and what could be so classified in Canyon.

According to U. S. Census figures, the minority group population of Canyon is virtually non-existent.

Acting City Manager Tom Plumlee said this week he believes the Dallas district judge ruling, which gave Dallas city commissioners only a month to work out a more representative election procedure, will affect only Dallas. Likewise, he said, the Amarillo suit, no matter how it turns out will affect only Amarillo's elections.

"This thing has to be taken on

New Bill Covers Tracks Of County On New Annex

A new legislative proposal to legalize Randall County's South Amarillo annex was sent to State Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo this week, and the bill does what a previous bill did not do — it spells out clearly that county commissioners are not culpable for any illegal action they may have previously taken to construct the annex.

The new legislative proposal was sent by County Judge Woody Pond to Simpson's Austin office, where it will be perused before it is submitted to the Texas House for passage as a general bill affecting all 254 of Texas' counties.

Sen Max Sherman is to carry the bill in the State Senate.

Simpson sent Pond back to the drafting board on the proposed legislation two weeks ago, when he was told in Austin an original local bill — designed only to affect Randall County — bordered on the unconstitutional.

The bill as drafted and sent to Simpson this week is an amendment to an existing state law which acts to prohibit county commissions in the state from constructing courthouse office buildings in other cities within their counties.

The new draft is, in essence, identical to the bill originally sent Simpson except in one respect. A new clause covers the tracks of Randall County commissioners, who last year authorized a contractor to begin work on a new $675,000 courthouse annex in South Amarillo to house branch offices for the county tax collector, county sheriff, and the justice of the peace. The bill to be amended by the proposed legislation proscribes the location of branch offices in another county town for the sheriff and justice of the peace.

The new clause inserted in the latest legislative proposal says: "All acts heretofore taken and proceedings heretofore adopted by the commissioners court in HEART MONTH was proclaimed for February observance by Canyon Mayor Manly Bryan as he affixed his signature to the proclamation while Reggie Reeves, president of the Randall County Chapter of the American Heart Association, watches.

Heart Month Proclaimed

Heart Month was officially proclaimed to be observed here during February by Canyon Mayor Manly Bryan this week.

The proclamation of Heart Month notes that "diseases of the heart and blood vessels are responsible for more deaths than all other causes combined thus creating widespread suffering and serious economic hardship in homes and businesses throughout the country."

Randall County chapter of the Texas Affiliation of the American Heart Association is involved in the relentless fight against cardiovascular disease through research, education and community service programs which are financed solely by public contributions.

The proclamation also notes the following facts:

*870,000 Texans are afflicted with some form of cardiovascular disease,

*640,000 Texans are hypertensive and one-half of these are not even aware of their condition,

*50,000 Texans died last year from cardiovascular diseases,

*40,000 Texas children are suffering from rheumatic heart disease; and

*39,000 Texans experienced the traumatic agony of strokes.

Reggie Reeves, chairman of the Randall County Chapter of the Heart Association, was present for the proclamation signing and noted that individuals may contribute local funds through deposits to the campaign at either the First National Bank of Canyon (Pat Olson, representative) or West Texas State Bank of Canyon (Cordell Huddleston, representative).

The local collection for Heart Month will include a canvass of businessmen to be directed by Cordell Huddleston and Gene Glazener. Randall County chapter will also be participating in the spring cyclethon for fund raising, according to Reeves.

Commissioners Extend Mutual Contract On Tax Lists

Randall County commissioners extended for another year Monday a mutual contract to provide the City of Amarillo with a computer listing of all automobiles in the county.

To be prepared by Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax collector, the listing will cost the City of Amarillo $7386. Last year, Mrs. Bruse told commissioners, the roll cost the city $6000 plus fees for programming.

The city will be furnished a listing of cars, their identification numbers, valuation of the vehicles and last year's license numbers.

In other business Monday, commissioners approved allowing employees to have savings deducted regularly from their payroll checks for deposit in the Amarillo Federal Employees Credit Union, which the county is a member of.

County Treasurer Bob McClendon presented the proposal that a payroll savings plan for county employees be implemented and commissioners okayed the plan, stressing, however, that no employee should be under duress to either join the credit union or have payroll savings deducted.

Following consideration of McClendon's proposal, Commissioner John Fulgenzi questioned the new county treasurer concerning how he plans to operate his office.

Running on a platform that he will work to abolish his own office, McClendon won election last November. A Canyon attorney, he maintains an office across from the courthouse.

Fulgenzi questioned McClendon on how he will use county records. McClendon said no official county records will be taken from the courthouse, but that he does plan to use his own IBM magnetic-card typewriter to prepare the county checks. He said the county's records will likewise be maintained.

Representatives of Kids, Inc., of Amarillo appeared before commissioners to request an increase in county funding for that program.

Art Fields and Chuck Allen asked the court to allocate $7500 to the program for the coming year. Currently the county subsidizes the program with about $2200.

Allen, noting that more than half the children involved in Amarillo Kids, Inc., live in Randall County, said commissioners in Potter County and in the City of Amarillo have also been asked for increased subsidies.

Eyeing figures which indicate 7700 participants in Kids, Inc., live in Randall County, Fulgenzi said "It looks to me like we've been under-funding you."

Later in the meeting, Fulgenzi asked County Judge Woody Pond to look into the budget to see if $7700 could be allocated for the program, but Pond was not optimistic about finding that much money in the budget.

Dr. Donald Todd, Texas president of the Committee for the Constitution, Inc., presented a 15-minute presentation attacking the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and similar commissions throughout the state.

License Plates On Sale Feb. 1

License plates for motor vehicles will go on sale for 1975 Feb. 1, Mrs. Audrey Bruse, Randall County tax collector, said this week.

License plates for 1974 will expire March 31, 1975.

Between Feb. 1 and March 31, the county tax office in the Canyon courthouse will be open from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday mornings to issue license tags.

Most local residents have already received through the mail, their renewal registration forms for obtaining the license plates, but Mrs. Bruse said those who do not have the forms should bring their 1974 license receipt and title in order to register their vehicles.

Emergency Pay Raises Considered

State representatives considered Wednesday legislation which would provide emergency pay raises for local state employees including West Texas State University staff and faculty members.

Argument began at 10 a.m. on a bill proposed and approved by the House Appropriations Committee, which calls for emergency salary appropriations of $93 million.

The Texas Senate has already passed a measure calling for pay raises varying from 5.5 per cent for those in higher income brackets to 14.2 per cent for those in lower brackets.

A hurry-up on the measure was expected this week in an effort to have a bill passed by both houses and signed by Gov. Dolph Briscoe before midnight Friday. If so passed, the new pay raises would go into effect Feb. 1. If not, state employees must wait until March 1 for pay raises.

State Rep. Bob Simpson of Amarillo, Canyon's representative in Austin, said Wednesday debate on the House floor centered around lowering the raise total from $108 million to around $93 million, the level Governor Briscoe has said he would allow without veto.

The House-passed version of the Senate bill already passed calls for a sliding pay hike scale:

*Those employees or faculty members making less than $876 per month as of January 1975 would receive a pay hike of 13%.

*Those making between $876 and $1267 per month would receive a hike of a flat $114 per month.

*Those making between $1267 and $1935 per month would receive a hike of 9 per cent.

*Those making in excess of $1935 per month would receive a flat $174 pay raise per month.

The Senate bill which the House would amend calls for a flat 14.2 per cent increase for employees making under $10,500; a 10.5 per cent increase for those making between $10,500 and $20,500; and a 5.5 per cent increase for those making more than $20,500.

within 24 hours after he's admitted to the hospital. But, by February 1, 1976, a review by the board will be necessary before, during and after a patient stay in the hospital.

The review board will hear a doctor's reasons for wanting to put a patient in the hospital, his diagnosis of the patient's trouble, the treatment he proposed and then the committee must approve of his action.

The board, he said, will in reality act as only a check on the physician rather than "as a guard or overseer."

Under the law, also, will be outlined the federally-calculated average hospital stay for particular illnesses. For every physical ailment, the HEW is expected to mandate the average length of stay on a regional basis. If a physician's patient stays in the hospital beyond the average length of stay as defined by HEW, the physician will have to explain in writing why the stay was prolonged.

Texas will be broken down into eight or nine regions over which other physician review boards will act to examine the reviews performed locally. From these, reports will go to HEW.

Because patients whose stays in the hospital are financed through federal programs make up the majority of patients in Canyon's hospital, Low said the requirements of the law will mean more time in paperwork for doctors here. He said it will facilitate better cost accounting techniques for hospitals, who he said are now losing money on Medicare and Medicaid patients.

The bill empowers commissioners courts in all counties of the state to provide, maintain and repair an office building or jail in one or more cities of more than 15,000 population other than the county seat. The court can also locate within the office building branch offices of all county offices except the county clerk, district clerk, county and district judges and the county treasurer, according to the proposal. All official and original records must be kept at the county seat.

The cost of such an office building must be less than two per cent of the taxable values of the county for the last preceding year, according to the measure. In the case of Randall County, the bill would authorize the expenditure of up to about $1 million for the construction.

a city-by-city basis," he said.

While pursuing limited information two weeks ago, then-city manager George Loudder had speculated that the Dallas decision might impact on Canyon's elections not this year but in the future. After discussing the case with other city officials, however, he reversed his opinion recently and said he believes the ruling only affects Dallas.

City Atty. Elton Cox agrees that the Dallas ruling probably applies only to Dallas, but he thinks that eventually similar court cases will face the general dismantlin' of the kinds of at-large commissioner elections permitted now in towns like Canyon.

He agreed that the ruling, even buttressed by a similar ruling from Amarillo federal judges, would probably have no impact on the scheduled April 1 city commission election.

Dr. J. Pat Stephens and Dr. Willis Harrison, both incumbents, have filed for re-election to their places on the commission.

No challengers have filed.

Canyon's city charter requires that the commissioners run on the at-large basis, ruling out thus, the need for districts or wards in the city from which a commissioner would come.

LLOYD AND SUSAN Rahlfs and Sammie and Lorene Cates recently served barbecue to friends at the Rahlfs home. The barbecue was delicious and the conversation enlightening.

WE MAY ALL be poor and broke but we can enjoy it so long as we can get together and eat that delicious beef cooked on an outdoor grill. I say barbecue, but there was no sauce on mine—just that good beef flavor. Mine was done perfectly, pink in the middle.

Trampoline Weather Abounds

By DORIS MCKEE

WHAT A BEAUTIFUL weekend. Saturday and Sunday were both record breaking days with 78 degrees being recorded. The kids really did enjoy the nice weather.

The trampoline next door stayed busy all day long, with flips, somersaults, copy cat and just plain jumps.

One of these days, when there's no one around and the kids are all in school, I'm going to go over and jump. Just hope I won't break something.

Need power over sin? Come and receive the Holy Ghost. Each evening except Sat. thru Feb. 9th. United Pentecostal Church. You owe it to yourself to try Pentecost.

Club Seeking Honor Nominee

Canyon's newest church facility was opened in the eastern part of the city with dedication services held Sunday, Jan. 26, at the University Church of Christ (formerly Central) at 3400 Conner Drive. The new building was recently appraised at over $500,000 and includes approximately 25,000 square feet for classrooms, fellowship hall, the sanctuary and a suite of church offices (pictured below) where the minister, Dwyane Dennis (left), and his wife, Marcia, office secretary-receptionist, check with the associate minister, Bill Mayes, on current church activities.

The Phoenix Club, an organization of West Texas State University alumni, is gearing up for its annual Faculty Excellence Award presentation.

"We're asking former and present students, staff and faculty to nominate outstanding faculty and staff members for the honor," says Lee Webb, executive director of the West Texas State University Alumni Association.

The dinner at which the $1000 award is announced is scheduled for late March, according to Webb.

"The award was instituted 12 years ago," says Webb, "so that outstanding faculty or staff could be recognized for their work. We also hope the recognition will help spur others in the university community on to greater things."

Those wishing to nominate individuals for the excellence award should send their letters to the alumni association, box 2833, West Texas State. A committee from the Phoenix Club will make the final selection.

Past recipients of the honor are Claud Zevely, Emilio Caballero, Mary Gaume, Mary Davidson, Ruth Cross, John Green, William F. Haggard, Ruth Lowes, Lowell Harrison and Ima Barlow.

The university Man of the Year will also be recognized at the Faculty Excellence Award dinner.

Cross-Switchblade Author To Speak Here Feb. 5-6

David Wilkerson, the famed author of "The Cross and the Switchblade," will be speaking at a public meeting to be held at the West Texas State University Fieldhouse on Feb. 5 and 6 at 7:30 p.m. both evenings. There is no admission charge.

The Cross and the Switchblade was Wilkerson's first book. It is the account of Mr. Wilkerson's first efforts to reach and rehabilitate street gang members during the era of the gang wars of the late 1950's and early 1960's. The book, first published in 1962, is in its twenty-eighth printing. It has been translated into thirty-two languages and has passed the 10 million mark in sales.

Wilkerson's book details the formation of the organization called Teen Challenge. This program in the past decade has become one of the most successful in the world for the rehabilitation of drug addicts. Teen Challenge now has facilities in 50 cities in the U. S. and a documented cure rate of 74%.

One of Mr. Wilkerson's first encounters with a teen gang member, as related in his book, was with Nicky Cruz, leader of the notorious Mau Mau's. Cruz was known as one of the most feared and hated street fighters in New York. When Wilkerson first approached Cruz, he spit on him, slapped him across the face and told him to "go to hell." Nicky Cruz later became Dave Wilkerson's first success and one of his most trusted assistants.

"The Cross and the Switchblade" was made into a feature-length movie in 1970. Pat Boone played the part of Wilkerson in the very successful movie.

David Wilkerson now spends the majority of his time speaking to teenagers about drugs, sex, alcohol, rebellion and other subjects of current interest.

Residents are invited for the services by Rev. Calvin Rashall, pastor. The campaign will continue through Feb. 9 with services set at 7 p.m. Sunday evenings and at 7:30 p.m. during the week. No services are set for Saturday evening.

Car Taxes Pay, Mrs. Bruse Says

Any probability county taxpayers would be relieved of paying taxes on their automobiles was dashed this week as Mrs. Audrey Bruse, county tax collector, revealed results of an in-house study which indicate the car tax "is worthwhile to continue."

Mrs. Bruse, instructed to pursue the study by county commissioners who openly doubted last month the economy of continuing to tax automobiles, said the county makes about $50,000 per year through the tax.

County Commissioner Paul Lindsey had been particularly critical of the county auto tax after reviewing in December the delinquent tax roll for automobiles, a thick computer print-out containing a list of thousands of unpaid car taxes.

Mrs. Bruse said her study proved surprising. She had anticipated before the study that only a small percentage of the auto taxes were paid each year.

But, the study indicates the county collects about 85 per cent of the car taxes assessed.

"I thought we were losing more than that," she said, "because in numbers we had a lot of delinquincies, but most were for small amounts."

Mrs. Bruse said the collection of automobile taxes is still the most expensive taxing pursued by the county.

She said preparation of a car tax roll costs about $20,000 annually.

That's about a fourth of the total tax roll, which last year totalled about $80,000. Mrs. Bruse said errors cost the county about $2200 on the roll, leaving about $78,000 to be collected. With an 85 per cent collection ratio, the collections in a year would run about $67,000. With preparation of the roll at about $20,000, that means the county makes about $47,000 annually from the automobile tax, she said.

"So," she said, "we're making some money. But, it's the hard way to make it. It's a headache."

Lindsey had indicated he might favor doing away with the auto tax. But, the state law requires that cars be taxed, although many municipalities and counties in the state do not tax automobiles.

Boy Scout Troop 66 Hold Court Of Honor

Court of Honor for Boy Scout Troop 66 was held Monday evening, Jan. 27, at the First Christian Church of Canyon and numerous scouting awards were presented along with an installation of 17 new scouts, according to Richard Fulton, scoutmaster.

Scout honor awards included the Bronze Palm to Jack Crager; the Life Award to David Blake; the Star Award to Harley Baker; Second Class Award to Mike Hunt and Tenderfoot Awards to Todd Dennis and David Kershen.

New scout installation rites and other scouting awards went to Barry Baker, Brett Boyd, Todd Dennis, Johnny Henry, Kyle Hunt, Ronnie Kennedy, David Kershen, Todd Looney, Shawn Masterson, John McClure, Joe Shehan, Robert Smith, Mike Shaw, Scott Thomas, Greg Woolsey, Mike Murrell, and Roger Bass.

Fourteen different merit badges were awarded to eight scouts with six different skill awards going to seven boys, according to the scoutmaster, Fulton.

Scout leaders for the troop include Edward Grimes, junior assistant scoutmaster; Jack Crager, senior patrol leader; Rocky Stone, assistant senior patrol leader; Alan Grimes, scribe; and patrol leaders, Harley Baker, David Blake, Mike Hunt and Greg Shehan.

David Hunt is committee chairman of the troop with C. B. Stone, Ada Crager and Ron Kershen serving as troop committee members.

Lee Watson talks about
The West Texas Gas Supply

You hear a great deal about the competition for the natural gas in West Texas these days. It is rightfully a matter of interest and concern to every citizen of this area. It has some serious implications.

Natural gas has been an important factor in building West Texas and will continue to be. Most of the businesses and industries in our area depend directly or indirectly, on a continuing supply of natural gas. A lot of people's jobs depend on it. So, we must see that they have it.

We will have to pay more for it than in the past. The competition for gas has never been so fierce. But by working together, and without outside interference, we'll have the gas energy we need today and in the future. Gas will still be your best energy buy.
